

Aluminum Profile Cable Management Frame Manufacturer

AI Overview

Leading manufacturers of aluminum profile cable management frames include FM SYSTÈME, ABB, Minitec, FlexLink, and voestalpine Metsec, offering modular, customizable, and certified solutions. Key Manufacturers and Offerings FM SYSTÈME provides a versatile aluminum profile system with modular series such as 16, 20, 30, 40, 45, and 50, along with a wide range of accessories. Their profiles allow fast assembly with sliding blocks and connectors, supporting both new projects and extensions of existing designs. ABB offers metal framing and cable tray systems, including the Kindorf® 1 1/2" modular channel system and T&B® cable trays. Their products are fully plated, modular, and compatible with numerous accessories, enabling efficient installation for cables, pipework, trunking, and suspended ceilings. Minitec specializes in T-slotted modular aluminum profiles similar to Bosch, 8020, and Item profiles. They provide distributors like Amtec and Modular Aluminum Technologies, supporting flexible cable management and electrical installation solutions. FlexLink manufactures modular aluminum structural profiles suitable for mechanical engineering and industrial applications. Their profiles are reliable, customizable, and designed for integration into automated systems. voestalpine Metsec produces a broad range of cable management systems, including cable trays, ladders, trunking, and metal framing. They offer rapid installation systems, prefabrication services, and bespoke designs. Their products are BSI Kitemark™ certified and BES 6001 accredited, ensuring compliance with UK and European standards. They also provide software tools like DesignSPEC3 for optimized design and cost-effective solutions. Considerations for Selection Modularity and Compatibility: Ensure the profiles and frames are compatible with existing systems...
