

How long will the Dawning AI server maintenance take

Overview

These windows typically range from two to eight hours, though extended maintenance is common when major updates are deployed. Missing an announced compensation window or failing to log in right after servers restore can mean lost in-game currency, limited-time rewards, or missed. Downtetector Explorer helps companies rapidly resolve issues, reduce service downtime, and improve mean time to resolution. Below is information on upcoming server. Rather than refreshing the game launcher or checking social media every few minutes, you can enter the announced maintenance start time and expected duration, then watch a live countdown tick down to the moment servers go live again. Modern online games — from MMORPGs and battle royales to mobile. Next to each system, you will also see a number in “ms”. This is how many milliseconds, on average, that system is taking to perform. Different systems (models in particular) have different waiting times depending on what is typically healthy for that model—8000ms might be unusually high for one. not nearly as long as updates. 10 minutes or less for my server's provider.
