

Price of Mongolian Electrical Distribution Boxes

AI Overview

Electrical distribution boxes in Mongolia typically range from $50 to $500 USD depending on type, capacity, and installation requirements. Overview of Distribution Boxes in Mongolia

Mongolia's growing residential, commercial, and industrial sectors are driving demand for reliable electrical distribution systems. Distribution boxes, also called breaker boxes or enclosures, are essential for safe power distribution and can be installed flush-mounted in walls or as standalone units for industrial applications. Suppliers like Mandakh Duuren LLC and Mongol Erdem LLC provide a variety of electrical enclosures suitable for Mongolia's climate and infrastructure needs.

Factors Affecting Price

Type and Capacity: Residential single-phase boxes: Typically smaller, simpler, and cost around $50–$150 USD. Commercial or industrial three-phase boxes: Larger, with higher amperage and multiple circuits, costing $200–$500 USD or more.

Material and Durability: Boxes made from ABS or PC plastics with IP65 protection are common, offering waterproof, dustproof, and anti-corrosion properties suitable for indoor and outdoor use. Weather-resistant and impact-resistant materials increase the price but ensure long-term reliability in Mongolia's extreme temperatures.

Installation and Features: Flush-mounted boxes save space and provide a clean interior finish, often preferred in modern residential and commercial buildings. Advanced features like surge protection, arc fault detection, and smart monitoring can further increase costs.

Supplier Options

Mandakh Duuren LLC: Offers a wide range of electrical distribution products and installation services for residential, commercial, and industrial projects in Ulaanbaatar.

Mongol Erdem LLC: Authorized distributor of CMI Electrical products, specializing in industrial and infrastructure applications, including substations and high-voltage distribution.
