

What are the optical cable manufacturers in Malta

AI Overview

Key manufacturers of optical cable sheathing in Malta include SM Cables and Conversa, both offering high-quality cable solutions and network infrastructure services.

SM Cables is a prominent Maltese manufacturer specializing in low voltage cables, including optical cable sheathing. Established in 1996, the company operates a 2400m² indoor plant equipped with modern machinery to meet growing demand. SM Cables adheres to ISO 9001:2014 quality standards and holds certifications from TUV Rheinland (Germany) and KEMA KEUR (Netherlands). Their products undergo rigorous testing at international laboratories such as the British Standards Institute, KEMA, INTERTEK SEMKO, and IMQ, ensuring high performance and reliability for both domestic and international markets.

Conversa is a leading supplier of networking products in Malta, providing fibre optic cabling systems, copper cabling, and related infrastructure solutions. While primarily focused on network design, installation, and certification, Conversa also supplies high-quality optical cable sheathing and accessories for overhead and underground installations. Their services include cable laying, testing, and certification, making them a comprehensive provider for optical cable infrastructure.

Additional Market Insights The Maltese market for optical fibre cables, including individually sheathed fibres, is supported by both domestic production and imports. Reports indicate that local companies are active in both manufacturing and exporting optical fibre cables, contributing to the supply chain for telecommunications and networking projects in Malta. For a broader list of suppliers and manufacturers, platforms like Europages and Trademo provide directories of companies producing indoor optical cable sheath materials in Malta.
